State gives an A for recycling effort

■ DUXBURY — For the second year in a row, Duxbury has received an A from the state for recycling more than 30 percent of its solid waste. This year the state Department of Environmental Affairs said Duxbury recycled 34 percent of its solid waste, up from 31 percent last year. Three years ago, when the state first issued an annual recycling report card, Duxbury rated only a C. At that time, the state said the town was recycling only 18 percent of its solid waste. Revenues from recycled materials totaled $145,000 last year, Public Works Director Walter Tonaszuck said.
